PREPARING YOUR HEALTH FOR DISEASE OUTBREAKS

☐ Fill prescriptions on time or ahead of time, if you can
  • Call your pharmacist to ask if your prescriptions can be filled early

☐ Try to keep non-perishable food, water, and can openers on hand
  • Go for canned meats, fruits and vegetables that are ready to eat, and can be used in a renal diet
  • Protein bars, cereal and granola, and dried fruit are great snacks to have

☐ Fully charge your electronic devices, and pack spare batteries and chargers
  • To conserve battery: limit the use of unnecessary apps and switch your phone to low-power mode when fully charged

☐ Keep a list of your local healthcare facilities, with addresses, phone numbers, and emails/ website
  • Consider these facilities:
    • Hospitals/ERs
    • Pharmacies
    • Urgent care clinics
    • Ancillary care:
      • Dialysis Centers, Cancer Treatment Centers

☐ Make sure you know your prescription medication and health information - use Rx on the Run to keep a list of your prescriptions
  • Rx on the Run is a personalized wallet-sized card that lists your prescriptions with the latest dosage and instructions
  • Visit HealthcareReady.org/Rx-on-the-Run to fill yours out!

☐ Plan for any chronic conditions you may have
  • Diabetes: Talk to your pharmacist about keeping a supply of insulin on hand - Try to refrain from eating sugar and other carbohydrates
  • Kidney disease: Make sure you have access to dialysis treatment and use the renal diet
  • Cardiovascular disease & hypertension: Try to refrain from high-salt and fatty food and aim for 30 minutes of activity a day to manage your blood pressure
  • Pulmonary disease: Work with your supplier to understand options for keeping resupplies of oxygen with you
  • Disability: Identify a trusted caretaker if necessary
  • Aging: Post emergency numbers near every house phone and cellular phone
  • Asthma: Have a plan to ensure you have a supply of your asthma medications and supplies
  • Cancer: If you have a cancer survivorship care plan, keep a copy handy and take steps to lower your risk for infections

Wash your hands regularly with soap and water, or use hand sanitizing gel, and avoid touching your face, nose, and mouth.

Disinfect surfaces you touch regularly (like desks, doorknobs, and phones) as often as you can.

Avoid traveling to areas and regions where there is a concentration of cases.

Avoid interactions with those who are sick.

If you are sick and think you may have been exposed to the disease:
- Call your doctor and let them know your symptoms.
- Try to stay home and keep distance from others.
- Work with your employer to determine their sick leave policy, which may be more generous during an outbreak.
- Cover your hands and mouth when you sneeze and cough.

Only follow health advice from your healthcare providers and trusted public health sources like CDC.gov (and WHO.int during a global pandemic).

Make sure your medications remain stable:
- Some medicines must remain within a certain temperature range.
- Tip: insulin can remain stable between 59°F and 86°F for up to 28 days.

Use RxOpen.org to find open pharmacies near you.

Drink plenty of bottled water and avoid skipping meals or eating spoiled food:
- Eat nutrient-rich, non-perishable foods such as fruits and vegetables.

Check with your health insurance provider for emergency support resources and hotlines:
- Start by calling the number on the back of your insurance card for assistance.
- If you don’t have insurance, call 2-1-1 and ask about local services that may be able to help.
- If there is a disaster declaration, you can also try to apply for FEMA Disaster Assistance for financial support by calling 800-621-3362 or visiting DisasterAssistance.gov.
