

COVID-19 Resource Guide: Healthcare Supply Chain Partner

WORKING TOGETHER TO HELP THOSE IMPACTED BY COVID-19

As the outbreak of COVID-19 evolves in the United States and around the globe, both the private and public sectors are joining forces to find solutions and fill gaps in the system to address this global public health crisis. Healthcare and biopharmaceutical organizations across the supply chain are tirelessly working to develop ways to diagnose, prevent, and treat those affected by the novel coronavirus. Healthcare Ready has joined forces with the Pharmaceutical Research and Manufacturers of America (PhRMA), the Biotechnology Innovation Organization (BIO), and the Healthcare Distribution (HDA), and the National Association of Chain Drug Stores (NACDS) to ensure the financial support and in-kind donations of personal protective equipment, medicines and critical medical supplies are provided to communities in need, including the marginalized populations and communities of color who are particularly vulnerable.

Healthcare Ready is a nonprofit that was established in 2006 by trade associations representing the biopharmaceutical supply chain and the American Red Cross in the aftermath of Hurricane Katrina to serve as a central coordination point between the healthcare supply chain and government agencies. The organization works to build and enhance the resilience of communities before, during, and after disasters.

This time is no different -- Healthcare Ready is closely monitoring the following efforts around the COVID-19 global health pandemic and leveraging its relationships with the healthcare supply chain, patient organizations, and providers to address current needs to fill gaps in the system by:

ENSURING SUPPLY CHAIN INTEGRITY: Proactively engaging with organizations throughout the supply chain to facilitate access to needed pharmaceuticals, personal protective equipment, and other critical medical supplies to areas and populations in critical need during this crisis.

STRENGTHENING PARTNERSHIPS WITH US HEALTH SYSTEM PARTNERS: Coordinating with federal partners at US Department of Health and Human Services (HHS) and the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) to understand healthcare and public health impacts and needs while monitoring the response and concerns of the US health system to mitigate the outbreak domestically.

TRACKING GLOBAL RESPONSE EFFORTS: Monitoring global response efforts to contain the outbreak, including tracking the impacts of travel advisories, quarantines, and other actions that have implications for the healthcare capacity and response across the US. These tools inform recommendations to government partners to reduce the potential for disruptions in the supply chain.

COORDINATING MONETARY & IN-KIND SUPPORT: Maintaining a close pulse on humanitarian assistance efforts, including monetary and in-kind support, to prioritize and coordinate donations and supplies to hardest hit areas where our most vulnerable populations reside.

DIRECT SUPPORT TO COMMUNITIES AND PATIENTS: Providing technical assistance and response support to communities, especially those with a high number of COVID-19 cases and a high proportion of patients diagnosed with chronic diseases, including communities of color. Healthcare Ready is focused on disseminating resource on preparedness, emergency prescription measures, and other healthcare access information.
